The Why

80% of job seekers do not follow up after submitting an application. Forbes highlights that candidates who follow up are more likely to get noticed by employers, thus increasing their chances of landing an interview.

The What

A containerized job tracking platform that streamlines your search with interview reminders and curated tips. It features advanced filters for finding tailored job listings and allows you to save favorites with follow-up reminders to stay organized throughout the application process.

What's New

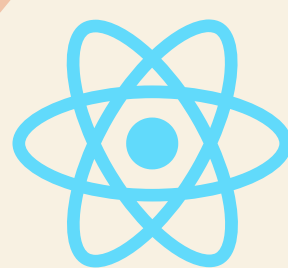

- Containerized solution
- Notification reminder for interviews
- Interview Tips
- Enhanced with more filters
- Add to Favorites for follow-up reminders

Testing

Front End: For the front end, we'll write unit tests for individual components and integration tests to ensure proper interaction with the API.

Back End: Use pytest and Flask-Testing to create unit tests for individual Flask routes and integration tests to verify the functionality of database interactions and API responses.
